DEVELOPMENT

SHERATON HOTEL, ABUJA, NIGERIA

CALL FOR PAPERS

CONFERENCE OBJECTIVES:

After a decade of energy sector and economy-wide reforms, many African countries are confronted with the challenges of the choice and funding of appropriate technology and requisite infrastructure to deliver energy services to meet goal of sustainable economic development. The relative small size of their economies and waning appetite of the international community to finance infrastructure in high cost environment that is so common in Africa made energy technology and infrastructure so critical for these countries to realize the goal of sustainable economic development. The 5th NAEE/IAEE Conference will bring together energy sector specialists, academia, finance expert and policy makers to discuss the choice of appropriate energy technology that can deliver cost effective and efficient energy services and address the problems of low energy access, and uneven distribution of energy resources among these countries, as well as the inadequate supply of infrastructure to support energy needs. African countries can also learn from international experiences as well as share best practices in successful African countries.
