Landis+Gyr's Exchange Conference Brings Connected Utilities to Minneapolis

PRESS RELEASE PR Newswire

Apr. 30, 2018, 09:00 AM

ATLANTA, April 30, 2018 /PRNewswire/ -- Landis+Gyr (SWISS: LAND.SW) will host more than 600 utility representatives and industry experts in Minneapolis this week at Exchange 2018, the company's annual user conference.

The event features seminars, user groups and training focused on grid modernization, asset management and engaging energy consumers. Landis+Gyr will also demonstrate key components of its Gridstream[®] Connect platform which enables more flexibility and interoperability for smart grid networks and devices.

"Exchange provides an opportunity for utilities across North America to share insights from a variety of smart grid projects and learn about the latest technology and strategies for improving grid operations," said Tim Weidenbach, Senior Vice President of Sales and Customer Operations at Landis+Gyr. "Our customers have successfully implemented significant projects that improve the reliability and efficiency of electric, water and gas distribution."

Keynote speakers for the event include Scott Tinker, Director of the Bureau of Economic Geology at the University of Texas, who will discuss the connection between energy, the environment and the economy; and former football coach and motivational speaker Bill Curry, who will speak on the value of a connected team.

Landis+Gyr will lead discussions about smart city technologies, consumer engagement tools, network security and integration of distributed energy resources, along with system training for the company's advanced metering, distribution automation and analytics applications. Started in 2006, Exchange has grown substantially over time to accommodate the increased interest in smart grid technology applications.
