COXSACKIE — Environmental documentaries are shown twice a month at the Coxsackie Village Office Complex Building, 119 Mansion St., Coxsackie. There is no charge for attending and all ages are welcomed to attend.

The documentary Switch Energy Project will be shown at 3 p.m. Feb. 9.

This is a 2012 film that follows geologist and energy researcher Dr. Scott Tinker around the globe to explore the energy transition from the traditional energies of coal and oil to future energies. The film has been accepted by many environmental groups and fossil and renewable energy companies.

More information can be found on the website www.Switchenergyproject.com.

The documentary Wasted! The Story of Food Waste will be shown at 3 p.m. Feb. 23.

This is a 2017 documentary that explores the reason for the more than 1.3 billion tons of food thrown away each year and how we can find ways to reduce our food waste.

The film aims to change the way people buy, cook, recycle, and eat food.

Chefs including Bourdain, Dan Barber and Mario Batali teach us how to make the most of every kind of food, transforming what most people consider scraps into incredible dishes that create a more secure food system.

The film also exposes the criminality of food waste and how it's directly contributing to climate change and shows us how each of us can make small changes to solve one of the greatest problems of the 21st century.

The annual Coxsackie Earth Day Celebration will be held 10 a.m.-3 p.m. May 18 at the Coxsackie Riverside Park. V endors are invited to attend and take part in this year's event. For information, find us on face book at Coxsackie Earth Day or by calling 518-478-541 or emailing jhaasrph@aol.com.
