Houston company could provide answer to Elon Musk's $100 million question

Andrea Leinfelder, Staff writer
Jan. 29, 2021 | Updated: Jan. 29, 2021 1:15 p.m.
Houston company could provide answer to Elon Musk’s $100 million question

Moji Karimi’s phone started buzzing. Messages poured in through text, LinkedIn, WhatsApp, Twitter; basically any avenue where friends and family could share Elon Musk’s $100 million tweet.

The Tesla co-founder and CEO – and world’s richest man, per Bloomberg – pledged to donate
Houston company could provide answer to Elon Musk's $100 million question

https://www.houstonchronicle.com/news/houston-texas/space/article/elon-musk-carbon-capture...
Houston company could provide answer to Elon Musk's $100 million question

LIFESTYLE

'He didn't make it': Small Texas town tragically loses celebrity dog

The Chronicle's Rebecca Hennes set out to write an uplifting profile of a famous dog. She wound up writing about a small Texas town's broken heart instead.

BY REBECCA HENNES
Houston company could provide answer to Elon Musk's $100 million question