

Figure 19. Texas and New Mexico counties from which sinkholes and fractures have been reported lie mostly within a peripheral dissolution zone that encompasses the Pecos Plains, the Canadian River Breaks and the Rolling Plains. Sinks and open fractures have not been reported from the Southern High Plains of northern High Plains within eastern New Mexico or the Texas Panhandle.